A slew of highway closures around Puget Sound next week: If you're traveling at night be prepared for delays

If traveling late at night or early in the morning be prepared to stop. We are planning intense, widespread nighttime construction work next week (March 27 – April 2) on multiple projects around the Puget Sound area. Crews will initiate rolling slowdowns and close freeway lanes and ramps and city streets. Overnight travelers should take some extra steps to avoid delays on and around Puget Sound area freeways. Be sure to check if the work will affect your commute.

Two ways to avoid delays

- Plan ahead - leave early, take alternate routes and reschedule trips if possible.
- Know before you go - You can find real-time traffic information on WSDOT's Web site or call the 5-1-1 driver information line to find out about current incidents, delays, and construction.
